

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

All Sorts.—Sheriff Woodford and Williams are making preparations to go on their annual round, tax-gathering. Hunt up your loose change!—The Dupont Rev. Henry Langford, of this county, as "Hon. Mr. Langford" "They say that 'right smart now' has already capped the summit of Cheat and Allegheny. The season has come around for the death of that old woman who remembers Washington. She has deceased lately at several places at very advanced ages. In the latest instance she takes the shape of an old colored woman, Nannie Johnson, who died on the 21st ult., at Strinerville, Berkeley county, aged 110. The Congressional election takes place on the Fourth Thursday in October, the 24th inst. The only danger is that Wilson's friends may not turn out. See to it that every man is at the polls and votes for Colonel Benjamin Wilson.

The French cooks have invented a new dish—grape leaves fried in egg batter—and say it is excellent. Joe Neff says he can't think of anything that could be more delicious than fried grape leaves, unless it is a circus bill on toast. There are seven women in the penitentiary at Moundsville. County Superintendent Hall has been the rounds of his appointments, and reports school teachers as scarce. The chance seems to be fair for a few good imported ones. Sutton had a good delegation in town early last week, consisting of our friends W. J. L. Corley, Captain G. F. Taylor and Sheriff Lowe. They made the editor's heart glad by a pleasant call. Man passes his life in reasoning on the past, in complaining of the present, and in speculating on the future. The strongest propensity in woman's nature is to want to know what is going on, and the next is to boss the job. The Western Union Telegraph Company have completed the rebuilding of the line from Clarksburg to Weston, the old wire having been taken down and an entirely new galvanic wire put up. It is now a number 1 line, and the manager of the Weston office assures the public that all messages offered will be put through on double quick. William Winder has been chosen by the United American Mechanics to be Deputy National Councillor for this State. Will pigeons have begun to migrate southward. The woods near Oakland, Maryland, are said to be full of them. Rev. Patrick Murray preached his farewell sermon to his congregation at Buckhannon on the 13th inst. The Great men who are so jubilant just now should remember that "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," and that the re-election of the great nepotist is far from being sure. Dr. Cummings was off on a trip to Texas, to visit a brother of his who resides there. A Universalist Church is about being organized at Shinnston, Harrison county, by Rev. J. A. Shinn, of Wheeling. Upshur County Circuit Court, convened at Buckhannon on Thursday last. Now that the long winter evenings are so close at hand, we would be glad if our friends throughout the country would send in short, pithy local communications. Don't be backward, friends. At the recent Fair, the champion belt purse, for trotting and pacing, confined to Lewis, Upshur, Braxton and Gilmer, were both won by Lewis county horses—Mr. Freeman's horse for trotting, and Mr. Kemper's for pacing. The second premium for pacing was carried off by a Gilmer county horse. The Moorefield Advertiser reports the corn crop of the South Branch Valley as averaging 75 to 80 bushels per acre. And now they say that Mr. Hale, after building houses for everybody else, is about to build one for himself. We shall be glad to hear him confirm the truth of the report. On the Fourth Thursday of October the people of this State will vote for members of Congress. This is the day fixed by law. It was not changed by the action of the Convention in fixing the election for State officers in August. The Congressional election was left untouched. Remember the day—Thursday, October 24th. October is called by one of the poets "months of the iris hues, and balmy air, when summer lends its sun with softened glare." There are now no less than six candidates for Congress in the Second District—two from Buckhannon, two from Martinsburg, one from Shepherdstown, and B. F. Martin, of Grafton, the Democratic nominee. The following West Virginians have secured patents: John McGrew, of Ravenswood, for a cider mill, Paul & Ewing, of Wheeling, for manufacture of wall paper. Judge Edmiston and daughter leave Weston this week for California, where they will pass the winter. Don't forget the election for members of Congress, which is to be held on Thursday, the 24th of the present month, but talk to your Democratic friends about it and see that a full vote is polled for Colonel Ben Wilson.

The Editor of the Buckhannon Delta went out to Middle Fork the other day to look for a fictitious pigeon-roost in that vicinity. He found an appetite—nothing more. Mary had a little lamb, she got it from her aunt, it was so quick in taking things, she called it U. S. Grant. Ed. Wikifson, formerly of this county, has returned home from the west. The four brothers, William, Samuel, Joshua and Ed., are all shoemakers by trade, all Republicans in politics, all took a trip to the west, all got the ague, and all have now returned to Weston, all well satisfied that after all "there is no place like home." Marrah for Gr—celey!—As a matter of interest to the people, holders in town, we state that at a meeting of the Council held last Thursday, the Street Commissioner was ordered to build and repair the sidewalks adjoining the property of those parties who were notified some time ago to build or repair them. He will commence operations in a few days. The p r i e s can save money by doing the work themselves. The Ministers' Meeting which was to have been held at the M. E. Church in this place on the 16th and 17th insts., was a failure, owing to the non-attendance of the participants. We have secured Mr. Hughes' essay on "The Influence of the Press," which is a very interesting document. It will appear in our next issue. Mrs. Henry Langford has placed the printer under obligations for a timely present, for which she has our hearty thanks. The President has proclaimed November 28th as set apart for Thanksgiving. The illustrious head-centre naturally feels like having some one else give thanks for Ohio and Pennsylvania. Well, we're thankful it's no worse. The Town Council has declined to purchase the Gaylord property, and parties who favored the opening of the new street, from one end of town to the other—which could have been done without any other expense than the purchase of this property—must put on mourning another year. The matrimonial market is reported as being very dull of late, but getting better, and with good prospects ahead. So says a reverend friend of ours, who does more marrying than any other man in this section. Printers are again in huge luck. This time it is our foreman, who has been appointed Town Weighmaster. Ephraim Cummings, Esq., of Upshur, with his bride, formerly Miss Jennie Hooker, who resided some years ago in Upshur county, but more recently of Sherman, Texas, are in town. They are the guests of J. K. Cummings, Esq. The members of the Band are moving to secure a new set of instruments, with a good show of success. Our citizens should treat the boys handsomely in this matter, for they deserve encouragement. Bear in mind that the election for members of Congress occurs next Thursday. Spare no lawful effort to bring out a full Democratic vote. Buckhannon glories in a new side-walk along Main Street. Dr. Peter Dargan is in "dry docks" on account of sickness. The agricultural papers are advising farmers to hold on to their crops of wheat, and are talking about $2 a bushel as the price of that staple during the coming winter. The great distress in England, occasioned by the failure of the potato crop there, is given as the cause. The busiest place about town just now is the Woolen Factory. If a man lazily inclined will spend an hour there, we think he would come away feeling industrious. Mrs. Higgins organized a missionary society out of Buckhannon, similar to the one now in operation in this village. Mr. W. J. Kitson lost a brown cow, white face, black spot under each eye, last week. The funder will be rewarded for returning the animal. Don't grudge the time you will lose in going to vote next Thursday. It will be for your good and the good of the country.

The Democracy of West Virginia, having achieved their own redemption, and overthrown the proslaveryists in their own State, should now lend a helping hand to their brethren of the Southern States, who are groaning under a despotism even more intolerable than that which was enforced here. A change of Federal administration will inaugurate a reign of amnesty and reconciliation and peace. Let us see that West Virginia does her part toward the relief of the South.

Something New.—By reference to our new advertisements, it will be seen that Mr. William J. Kitson has opened a shop for the manufacture of head and tomb stones, monuments, &c., in this village. Mr. K. will work with stone as well as marble—the advantage of using stone for these purposes being that it lasts equally as long as marble, and costs a great deal less. Mr. Kitson is known as a most skillful workman, and a gentleman whose promise can be relied upon. He will travel through Lewis and the adjoining counties soliciting orders and we trust he will receive a good share of patronage.

Porter Johnson has removed his store to the Bailey corner.

Fast Stock.—The Fair track is now completed, and Mr. J. P. Cole, having secured the services of an excellent horse-trainer, will, for a few days, take charge of any stock that may be entrusted to his care.

Window glass, all sizes, putty, (in cans), linseed oil, white lead, paint, varnishes, colors in oil, varnishes of all kinds, fire-proof paint, sand-paper, &c., kept constantly on hand and for sale cheap by A. M. Dent.

No Time to an Loe.—In the incipient stages of Consumption, the first symptoms is generally a hacking cough, pains in the chest, difficulty of breathing, or oppression of the lungs. Something should be done at once to check the cough, allay and heal the irritated parts. Allen's Lung Balm will break up the cough in an incredibly short time; also prevent the formation of tubercles. Where tubercles are once formed, the disease is hard to cure. It is for sale, wholesale and retail, by F. M. Chalfant, who is sole agent for the counties of Lewis and Gilmer.

A KNOWING FELINE.—A gentleman in this village has a large Maltese cat, which from kittenhood has fraternized and slept with a rough rat terrier. The other day some boys got into the premises, and the dog not doing his duty, pussy mounted the largest of the hogs, and for a few seconds it looked as if the hog would never escape alive. Since then, the cat has turned watch-dog, and is death on any hog that approaches.

HIGH TIMES IN BARBOUR.—We take the following from a recent issue of the Grafton Sentinel, premising that we know nothing of its truth, or of the responsibility of the writer:—Editors Sentinel.—About one year ago a daughter of Mr. F. Talbot was married to I. S. Zinn. The former was 12 years of age, and the latter 16. The girl's father, in order to show his gratitude to his son-in-law, sold him his farm, and gave him a part of the stock on the place. After the son-in-law had got his share, he drove the parents from the farm. They were received time and again by the son on condition of placing all in his hands. When secure, he drove them off, and would not allow them to return. Finally the son concluded to go west, and on Saturday, September 21st, had a sale of his father-in-law's property. The parents of both the children were there—and whiskey was there. Zinn and his party were high. When the mother of the daughter refused to have her property sold, she was called hard names. Such drinking and knocking down was never seen. The old man Zinn was very busy insulting people and striking them. But at last he struck the wrong one. Mr. Geo. Corder was struck on the head, when he dropped the old man to the ground. Some swayed axes, some swung fence rails, some swung chickens' heads. Good times for officers of the peace. Look out for Court next month. We see the result of 12 year old marriages. PHILLIPS.

BRING THEM ALONG.—We are frequently asked why such and such marriage or death notices have not appeared in our paper, and we presume the experience of all other newspaper people is similar. In answer to the question, we say it is not the duty of an editor of a paper to run after people and ask them whether they have been married or not, and to bore the surviving relatives of those who have died; but it is the duty of their friends, if they have any, to furnish the printer with the information, which will be gladly received and duly published.

ATTENTION.—We would call the attention of the lately elected Constables and Justices of our county to the fact that it will be necessary for each one to give bond and take the oath of office before the 27th inst. We mention this fact just now so that all may provide themselves with good security in time. Justices will have to give a bond of $5,000, and Constables a bond of $3,000. As the $1,200 exemption act is now in force, it will be necessary to have "heavy" bondmen.

A REMINISCENCE OF "STONEWALL" JACKSON.—Our friend John P. Peterson, who, by the way, relishes a good joke about as well as any man of our acquaintance, tells the following unpublished reminiscence of the great flanker:—

When I was quite a young man, "Stonewall," who was then about 17 years old, was a deputy constable in this (Lewis) county. Close by my farm lived a man named D—, who always paid his debts "according to fact," and not otherwise. Somebody had sued the old fellow, and obtained judgment against him, and young Jackson was sent by the Justice to levy on sufficient property to cover the execution and costs. Armed with the authority of the law, Jackson (then a mere stripling) went to the troublesome customer's farm, had some conversation with him, and happening to see a colt near by, which he recognized as the old man's property, he immediately levied upon it, and told D— that he would call for it on the following Saturday. Great was the old fellow's rage when he discovered Jackson's errand, and he swore big oaths that if Jackson laid hands on the colt he would kill him, sure! On Saturday morning Jackson appeared on the farm again, and meeting the old man, he asked him where the colt was. He replied profanely, that it was in the stable, and if he attempted to take it out, he would be the death of him. Jackson said nothing, but started to the stable. On arriving there, he found that D— had piled rails against the entrance, in a way that rendered it impossible to take the colt out, without first removing them. Without a word he commenced to throw them aside; when D—, seeing that Jackson was not to be scared with words, picked up a huge stake, and raising it high in the air, made a rush for "the little constable." Just as the old fellow got within striking distance, Jackson pulled out a small, single-barreled pocket-pistol and pointed it to the breast of the unruly defendant. The old fellow halted, and ceased, and ceased, but all to no effect. Jackson quietly pulled down all the rails with his left hand, and kept the pistol in good range with the right, and when he had cleared the entrance, brought out the colt, mounted him and rode off. This was done without a word of abuse on Jackson's part, and as coolly as if he were engaged in eating his dinner. I was standing by at the time, and have had many a good laugh since at the rage and consternation of D—, and the cool bravery of the "boy constable."
